

Do you regularly attend/communicate about your check-in meetings and participate in self-reflection beforehand?

I have attended all my check-ins. Every time I could not make it, I would schedule another time for it. Before going to any check in I made sure to reflect on my work, so I would ask questions concerning concepts or code or get help with get hub or setting up things that I think I didn't set up well.